

SCIENCE FOR THE SAKE OF SCIENCE!

Join us for an evening of networking and sharing of our passion for science

Reasons for getting together:

To recognize and utilize the many wonderful science teachers in our local area that can provide expert professional development

To bring science teachers together that would otherwise not have the opportunity to work with other science teachers

To create a network of science teachers passionate about teaching science

To provide a forum for sharing and disseminating effective science activities and programs

To provide local schools inexpensive science professional development

Date: February 21st
