Grammar & Mechanics for the 21st Century Learner Grades 6-12

Ready to toss those tired worksheets and instead try fresh, effective, and fun ways to teach grammar and mechanics?

This session will explore approaches to teaching the expectations of grammar and language conventions called for by the California Standards for ELA/Literacy. We will focus on application of the Language Standards in context for integrated literacy learning that sticks.

We'll learn techniques like using mentor text and routines such as Sentence of the Week. Let's move away from the teaching of discrete skills in isolation, and plan for teaching toward application and improvement of skills in writing and speaking with the added benefit of students actually enjoying grammar and mechanics.

Participants will receive a copy of Everyday Editing by Jeff Anderson.
