Secondary teachers, CTE and pathway educators, counselors, instructional coaches, site administrators, and district leaders interested in developing or strengthening Project-Based Learning. School and pathway teams are strongly encouraged to attend so participants can experience the full PBL process together and consider how the model can be adapted within their own schools.

Experience PBL from Beginning to End!

See Project-Based Learning come to life! You will experience the full journey of an authentic PBL from the initial "why," driving question, and project launch to academic and CTE integration, student voice and choice, collaboration, industry connections, feedback, and revision.

You won't just hear about PBL you'll see it in action. The experience will culminate with students presenting their work to an authentic audience, followed by judging and assessment.

Finally, you will hear directly from the students and teachers as they reflect on the experience. The successes, the challenges, the lessons learned, and the impact PBL had on student learning.

Come see what PBL looks, sounds, and feels like from launch to presentation!
